Testimony in Mitchell, Stans trial ending

By H.D. QUIGG

NEW YORK (UPI) — The government pressed to shore up its case against former Attorney General John N. Mitchell and former Commerce Secretary Maurice H. Stans with rebuttal testimony today in the final week of the first trial of former Cabinet members since the 1920s.

The first rebuttal witness was Richard B. Vine, director of the State Department's Office of Western European Affairs. He began his testimony late Friday, telling how he was attached to the U.S. embassy in Bern, Switzerland, on Nov. 30, 1971, when Mitchell, then attorney general, phoned about the jailing of Robert L. Vesco.

Vine said he told Mitchell that the international financier, now a fugitive in the Mitchell-Stans case, had been jailed on a felony charge, "disloyal management," brought by a shareholder of Investors Overseas Services, Ltd., which Vesco had taken over.

Vesco was released on $125,000 bail, and the charge was later dropped.

Mitchell and Stans are charged with trying to impede a federal investigation of Vesco's operations in exchange for his secret $200,000 cash contribution to the 1972 Nixon re-election campaign. The trial began its 10th week today.

U.S. District Court Judge Lee P. Giagiarri told the jury of nine men and three women that testimony would be finished today even if it was necessary to go into a night session.

Summations and the judge's charge to the jury were scheduled for Tuesday and Wednesday.

Stans's defense rested its case late Friday. Mitchell's attorney, Peter Fleming Jr., indicated he might have another witness or two, but this was not certain. Meanwhile the judge let the government get its rebuttal started.

Critical week opens

Nixon seeks new image

By GAYLORD SHAW

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House is charting a fresh public relations campaign to coincide with President Nixon's responses to a pair of subpoenas from impeachment and Watergate investigators.

Presidential appearances in sections of the country considered generally friendly to his cause — and possibly a new Watergate "white paper" — are cornerstones of the effort to shore up Nixon's sagging popularity and to blunt impeachment moves.

On Thursday, the deadline for an answer to the House Judiciary Committee's subpoena for 42 tape recorded conversations, Nixon is scheduled to address a regional economic council in Jackson, Miss.

On May 3, one day after a response is due on special Watergate prosecutor Leon Jaworski's subpoena for tapes of 63 conversations, Nixon is to make a public appearance in Phoenix, Ariz.

Although White House spokesmen won't publicly disclose the President's plans, indications are mounting that Nixon will stop short of supplying the House committee with all the subpoenaed material. One aide has said some of the conversations were never recorded and that others deal with national security matters.

According to reliable reports, the public relations campaign is intended to convince Americans that Nixon's response to the committee request is, in the words of one official, "comprehensive and conclusive."

In recent days, Nixon aides reportedly have been completing transcripts of the subpoenaed tapes and working on a lengthy document that White House officials contend will prove the President's innocence of any Watergate wrongdoing.

Whether the document will be released publicly, or merely turned over to the committee, has not been disclosed.

Meanwhile, Sen. Charles Percy, R-Ill., told a nationwide television audience that he continued "to see reluctance, a dragging of feet, almost what might be considered a hindrance of justice" in White House failure to relinquish tapes sought by the House committee or the special prosecutor.

Percy, interviewed on ABC-TV's "Issues And Answers" program also said he would not be satisfied if Nixon turned over edited transcripts of the conversations instead of the actual tapes.

Missile bases attacked

Fighting erupts along entire heights front

By The Associated Press
Artillery fire pounded strategic Mt. Hermon today and fighting erupted along the entire Golan Heights front. The Syrian command reported it was hitting Israeli anti-aircraft missile bases that were "moved up to forward positions last night."

The Syrians claimed their artillery and tanks had "inflicted heavy losses on enemy military installations, concentration points and anti-tank missile bases."

Israel reported artillery fire against the Mt. Hermon peak, where Israeli forces have been fortifying a new position for the past 10 days, had resumed after a night lull.

A spokesman for Israel's military command denied a report by unofficial sources in Lebanon that Israeli soldiers had taken a Lebanese hilltop Sunday in the fight for control of the mountain. The sources had identified the hill as Shahr, on a southwest slope of the mountain.

The military command in Tel Aviv reported that in air activity Sunday, the Israeli air force had pounded Syrian emplacements six miles behind the front and drove off one Syrian air raider.

Egypt has refused to meet with Libya and Syria at a session of the People's Council of the Federation of Arab Republics, the Cairo newspaper Al Akhbar reported today.

No reason was given for the refusal of Egyptian members of the federation parliament to go to Libya for the meeting, but there was speculation that it was a protest against last Thursday's attack on the Military Technical Academy in Cairo. Egyptian officials believed the attack, in which 11 persons were killed, was inspired by Libya.

In an interview published by the New York Times today, Egyptian President Anwar Sadat was quoted as saying he would welcome arms talks with the United States.

Following a policy speech last Thursday, in which Sadat said Egypt would diversify its weapons sources, the president was quoted by the Times as saying, "I assure you we are already in action."

He declined to say what country discussions or deals are under way.

In Washington officials of the State Department said the United States can be expected to start a major economic aid program with Egypt in coming months but indicated there are no plans to supply Egypt with arms.

Both Israeli and Syrian air forces were reported in action Sunday.

U.S. warships being pulled out of Indian Ocean

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. Navy warships are leaving the Indian Ocean for the first time since last fall's Middle East crisis.

Pentagon sources indicate it probably will be several months before the American Navy returns to that ocean, where its presence has been protested by India and some other countries, including Russia.

The carrier Kitty Hawk, several escorting destroyers and an oiler were expected to sail through the Strait of Malacca today. The task group may stop at Singapore before heading for the main 7th Fleet base at Subic Bay in the Philippines.

The Kitty Hawk was the third U.S. carrier to cruise the Indian Ocean since last October when Arab oil producers clamped an oil embargo on the United States. Tanker routes to the big oil-producing countries around the Persian Gulf pass through those waters.

Underlining the new importance of the Indian Ocean, Secretary of Defense James R. Schlesinger said at the time that the presence of U.S. warships there "will be more frequent and more regular than in the past."

In advance of the Kitty Hawk's passage through the Malacca Strait, Navy and defense officials declined to acknowledge the movement or give any reason for not replacing the U.S. task group at this time.

The Nixon administration may try to use the break in deployments to cool the diplomatic heat and perhaps win over reluctant senators to the Navy's plan for a fleet base at the Indian Ocean island of Diego Garcia.

The House has approved the base proposal, but the Senate

Armed Services Committee has balked.

The Navy argues it needs the Diego Garcia base because its fleet units sailing the Indian Ocean are dependent on support from Subic Bay, some 4,000 miles from the critical waters near Iran and the Arabian peninsula.

Senate opponents and a number of nations including India, New Zealand, Indonesia and Australia say they fear an American naval base and warships in the Indian Ocean will cause Russia to increase its naval presence there.

BRIEFING . . . Former aide John Ehrlichman has admitted briefing President Nixon on a tax audit of former Democratic party chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien's tax returns.

On O'Brien tax audit

Ehrlichman admits briefing Nixon

By MICHAEL J. SNIFFEN

WASHINGTON (AP) — John Ehrlichman has admitted to Senate Watergate committee investigators that he briefed President Nixon on an audit of former Democratic party chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien's tax returns.

This was disclosed in a memo sent to members of the committee April 1 by his assistant chief counsel Terry Lenzner. The Associated Press has obtained access to the memo.

Lenzner's memo also discloses that committee investigators still are pursuing the theory that the original Watergate break-in at Democratic National Committee headquarters may have been motivated by concern that O'Brien knew of a $100,000 campaign contribution from Howard Hughes. The Hughes money was given President Nixon's close friend C.G. "Bebe" Rebozo in two installments in 1969 and 1970.

At the time of the break-in, O'Brien was serving as an unpaid consultant for the Hughes interests. He had previously been paid for this work and it is not clear how much he was doing for Hughes while serving as Democratic chairman.

In the memo Lenzner accused the Internal Revenue

Service of putting "frustrating and debilitating roadblocks" in the path of the committee's investigation of the Hughes money. He also raised questions about the conduct of the IRS' own probe of the contribution.

This was denied Sunday by the IRS, which said that it "has been cooperating to the fullest extent consistent with the disclosure limitations of the tax laws."

An informed source said the committee has received some tax returns but not the worksheets, records and results of IRS interviews which it sought.

Lenzner's memo says the committee also is seeking copies of IRS sensitive case reports on Hughes Tool Co.; F. Donald Nixon, one of the President's brothers; Rebozo, and others.

Lenzner wrote that these reports had been transmitted to Ehrlichman, formerly Nixon's chief domestic adviser, at the White House, and from him to others, including Nixon.

Lenzner's memo says, "Indeed it is of interest that Ehrlichman admitted briefing the President on the results of the O'Brien tax audit, has admitted to inquiring of (Treasury) Secretary (George) Shultz of the results of that audit, and that the White House reconstructed chronology of the President's meetings with (former White House counsel) John Dean, as submitted to this committee, reflects that the conversation of Sept. 15, 1972, dealt primarily with the discussion of Larry O'Brien's tax audit."

An informed source said that Ehrlichman's briefing of Nixon occurred in late summer 1972. The Lenzner memo says that it is crucial for the committee to obtain the sensitive case reports that the White House had and was acting upon during the IRS investigation.

"The information is also critical to determine its relationship, if any, to the break-in at DNC headquarters on June 17, 1972," Lenzner wrote.

Income tax cut is sought

By C. BARTON REPPERT

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey has joined two other key Senate Democrats in calling for an income tax cut to offset the impact of inflation and "stimulate the economy through consumer demand."

The Minnesota Democrat urged Sunday that Congress enact a tax cut to help low- and middle-income families faced with steep living costs "in the midst of a recession."

Humphrey's tax cut proposal came after Sens. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., and Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., had proposed taxes be cut by $5.9 billion, mainly through increasing the personal exemption on taxable income from $750 up to $825.

For a family of four, with taxable income of $8,000 to $12,000, the increased exemptions would mean a tax savings of about $106 at current tax rates. With taxable income of between $12,000 and $16,000, the same family of four would save about $115.

Meanwhile, President Nixon's chief domestic affairs adviser said the administration was not presently considering a tax cut.

Kenneth R. Cole Jr., interviewed Sunday on the NBC program "Meet the Press" said that a tax decrease "at this particular point in time will inflame" inflation, rather than solve economic problems.

He repeated the administration's belief that the economy will begin to improve in the second half of the year.

Humphrey, chairman of the Joint Economic Committee, also advocated creation of new public service jobs for the unemployed as well as a permanent agency to monitor and counter inflation.

Latest government figures show inflation is now running at a rate of more than 10 per cent annually. During the first three months of this year, consumer prices rose at an annual rate of 14.5 per cent.

The government also announced last week that in the same three months, the nation's total output of goods and services dropped at an annual rate of 5.9 per cent, the biggest decline since the recession of 1958.

Both House Speaker Carl Albert, D-Okl., and Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, chairman of the powerful House Ways and Means Committee, have indicated they would support such a move to cut taxes unless there is a marked upturn in the economy soon.

Humphrey did not specify how the tax cut he favors should be put into effect.

Will Rogers Says . . .

"Everybody will start reading the papers, now that the baseball season has opened. I was able to be at the baseball opening in Philadelphia, the Phillies and the Braves. In some cities they meet at the plate and march to center field and raise last year's pennant. They didn't do that. They stuck to the regulation stuff and raised the American flag. I don't care how low a team gets in baseball, that is one thing that is never denied them. They are always allowed the same use of the flag as the good teams."

"They had three umpires. One to correct the other two."

Gasoline barge wedged in lock for four hours

TREMPEALEAU, Wis. — River traffic was delayed about four hours this morning at Lock 6 here when a barge loaded with 3,000 tons of gasoline was wedged between the I-wall and the lock wall.

According to a spokesman from the lock, the Inland Pilot was on her way downriver showing three barges loaded with gasoline. Two barges were into the lock when the outdraft caught the stern of the tow, took it riverward, and the barge wedged. There was no spill, the spokesman said.

THE HOT TO TROT, piloted by Elmer Gotz, came downriver er from Winona and assisted in tipping the wedged barge onto the upper wall.

At Dresbach Lock 7, some damage was reported today on the No. 1 roller gate where one loaded and one empty barge of the Miss Cathy hit Saturday in strong river current. Extent of the damage will not be known until the water goes down.

ALSO IN trouble today was the Linda, on her way upriver with 12 barges. At mile 723 below the lower Burlington Railroad bridge at Winona, the tow's prop engine went out. The trip upriver will be delayed until necessary repairs can be made.

Armed robbery attempt fails at city bar

An armed robbery attempt at the Handy Corner bar, 700 E. 5th St., failed Sunday evening after an employee refused to comply with the robber's demand for money.

According to city police, a man entered the bar at about 9 p.m. wearing a plastic bag over his head and carrying a shotgun.

After being refused money by bartender Lois Schwartz, the man left through a rear door, firing one blast which shattered panelling and broke windows on the door.

Police said that the man apparently fled on foot. Three customers were in the bar at the time.

The incident is under investigation.

Five injured in two-car collision near Wabasha

WABASHA, Minn. (Special)—Five persons were treated at St. Elizabeth Hospital following a two-car accident near here Saturday evening.

Steven Paske, 17, Wabasha, was driving a 1962 panel truck owned by Wabasha Electric Co. His passengers were Ted Miller and Akley Strong, both 16, Wabasha.

Gloria Loehler, 24, Kellogg, was operating a 1966 model car owned by Henry Dillinger, Wabasha. Her passenger was Mrs. Marjorie Dillinger, 46, Wabasha.

Wabasha County authorities said charges are pending against both drivers.

The accident took place Saturday at 10:20 p.m. on old Highway 61, one mile southwest of Wabasha.

Authorities reported that the Loehler woman, after seeing a car in the ditch, attempted to turn her vehicle around in the driveway at the Wabasha Sewage Plant and became stuck.

The panel truck, heading south, ran into the car which was partially on the roadway.

Both vehicles were termed total losses.

400 Oshkosh homes damaged by tornadoes

By The Associated Press

Tornadoes slashed through Oshkosh, Wis., on Sunday, damaging more than 400 homes and prompting the state's acting governor to declare a state of emergency.

An elderly woman and an infant were killed as twisters touched down in a 35-mile stretch through four counties from Oshkosh south to Lomira.

Tornadoes also touched down in Texas and Illinois on Sunday, but Wisconsin was the hardest hit.

The Wisconsin tornadoes struck about 4 p.m.

A 74-year-old Campbellsport woman was killed when a tornado demolished her mobile home and a 5-month-old baby was killed when a tornado sent a tree crashing onto the car in which he was riding.

Property damage was most severe in Oshkosh, but no deaths were reported in the city. "It's miraculous that nobody got killed," said City Manager Gordon Jaeger. "The

Trempealeau Co. Board to hold night meetings

WHITEHALL, Wis. (Special)—John Walek, Independence, was reelected to a two-year term as chairman of the Trempealeau County Board of Supervisors at the April board meeting.

Earl Ryder, Trempealeau, defeated Ernest Vold, Osseo, for a two-year term as vice chairman.

FOLLOWING a discussion on the increasing work load of supervisors and the hardship for businessmen members to attend daytime sessions, it was decided the board would meet at night once a month when possible. Schools, miscellaneous and printing committee meetings will be scheduled at night prior to the board meeting.

As of Jan. 1, 1975, the county will retain all fees from the offices of register of deeds and clerk of courts, and the salary of the elected officials will be $770 per month, the equivalent of the salary of the county treasurer and clerk.

A building request by Irwin Hogden, Ellick, member of the Trempealeau County Fair Association, was referred to the agriculture committee. Hogden asked that the merchant's building on the fairgrounds be replaced with pole-type construction with steel-asphalt roofing and cement flooring. He estimated the cost at $19,300 without labor.

Park commission members were authorized to apply for state grants for aids for easements, leases or purchases of lands, development of trails and facilities and cost of maintenance for a county snowmobile recreation plan. If state grants are available, supervisors approved funding for the remainder of the costs.

DOG DAMAGE claims allowed were to Delores Cleasby,

Eleva, $90, and David J. Severson, Blair, $90. Sheriff Wayne Holte was paid $735 for meals from Feb. 18 through April 14, and $84.32 for transportation. The Independence News Wave received $3,822 for printing.

Paul Lehman, Gordon Johnson and Nick Jensen were reelected to the highway committee and Lee Sacia, Ernest Vold, Thurman Fremstad and Norman A. Thompson to the agricultural committee. Henry Anderson, Osseo, was reelected to a seven-year term on the county park commission, and Earl Malles, Trempealeau, reappointed to the Mississippi River Regional Planning Commission.

You might try using a mirror

For a correct aerial view of the sites for River Bend Industrial Park and Peerless Chain Co. hold page 1B of the Sunday News in front of a mirror. The dredge sites should be to the right of Mankato Avenue and Community Memorial Hospital, not to the left as they appeared in the reversed photograph.

Also, Winona saved $225,000 on the Pelzer Street extension project by using dredge fill rather than trucking in sand — not $25,000 as reported Sunday because of a typographical error.

Man injured when boat goes over dam

MAZEPPA, Minn. (Special)—A Minneapolis man escaped serious injury Saturday evening when the small boat in which he was riding shot over the Rochester Power Dam on Lake Zumbro and dropped 60 feet onto a concrete ledge.

Richard A. Hall, 20, is hospitalized with a back injury at St. Mary's Hospital, Rochester.

THE ACCIDENT happened at 9:30 p.m. near Boyd's Resort, between Mazeppa and Rochester.

Witnesses reported seeing a man in a small boat, with an outboard motor, heading in a northerly direction, toward the dam, at a high rate of speed. The onlookers heard a loud thump and the boat disappeared. A scream was heard as the passenger and boat dropped 60 feet.

Hall remained inside the covered boat, which probably saved his life, reported a Wabasha County deputy.

Two young boys from Lake City — Dan Kehn and James Mack — who were camping below the dam, told authorities they heard a thump but could not see anything or anyone. Then they saw a bright light flashing on and off at the base of the dam. The youths put their canoe into the swift water, paddled to the concrete ledge and rescued Hall.

HALL, WHO WAS incoherent, told the boys he was not sure if a passenger had been in the boat. So after Hall was placed on shore the boys returned to the area. After an unsuccessful search they decided that Hall must have been alone.

Wabasha County authorities said that the flashing red light on the dam was working at the time of the accident.

Grand jury is being recalled

Winona County District Court Judge Glenn Kelley will recall the grand jury which recessed Friday, he announced this morning.

If the 23 jurors can be reached, the grand jury will reconvene at 9 a.m. Tuesday in district court.

The jury submitted sealed findings to Kelley Friday following three days of closed sessions. The group investigated a Feb. 11 incident in the city and "other crimes," County Attorney Julius Gernes said last week. The jury also was required to investigate conditions in the county jail, and may report to Kelley on its findings.

3rd District Demos flay Nixon, Thomson

BLACK RIVER FALLS, Wis. (Special)—"Impeach Nixon" buttons were worn by some of the more than 300 persons attending the 3rd District Democratic convention here Saturday. The 187 voting delegates were united in optimism but argued numerous issues.

An unusual highlight of the session was a free will collection of $116.67 to be given to the striking Hortonville teachers.

THE GROUP passed a resolution endorsing the right to strike and their right to collective bargaining for public employees such as the Hortonville teachers and provided in that resolution that Wisconsin Gov. Patrick Lucey add such a measure to the agenda for the special session of the legislature.

Four candidates wanting to run against 3rd District Republican Vernon Thomson spoke.

Alvin Baldus, Menomonie, said he "would like to help that old what's-his-name make up his mind about retiring."

Charles Collins said the important issue facing the Congressional candidates is that Vernon Thomson is a tough campaigner. Collins stressed he plans to use a bicycle during his campaign and promises to run a very clean campaign but he stated he thinks Thomson retired about six years ago and "now is the time to cut off his salary."

Petitions ask review of Knopp Valley plan

By SUSAN LOTH
Daily News Staff Writer

Petitions calling for environmental review preceding development of Knopp Valley are to be mailed today to the state Environmental Quality Council (EQC), said Fred Killion, chairman of the St. Mary's College Chapter of the Minnesota Public Interest Research Group (MPIRG) which sponsored the drive.

More than 800 persons — including more than 400 not from St. Mary's College, Killion said — signed the petitions which call on the EQC to require an environmental impact statement on the rezoning of Knopp Valley and any subsequent development. MPIRG feels city zoning should encourage development of moderate and low income housing in the central city rather than higher-income housing at the city's fringe.

THE CITY recently rezoned most of the valley from R-1 (single-family residential) to R-3 (multi-family residential), R-S (residential-suburban) or B-1 (business). Developers Howard Keller and Jerry Pappenfuss plan more than 650 dwelling units clustered in "mini-neighborhoods" and an 18-acre office park.

The petitions should reach the EQC early enough to be considered at the next meeting in St. Paul May 14.

According to EQC rules, the council shall consider petitions for environmental review signed by at least 500 persons.

The EQC uses a set of criteria to determine whether to order an environmental assessment by the developer or others. Information from the assessment then is reviewed to decide if a full-scale environmental impact statement is needed.

At the same time, MPIRG has sued to invalidate the recently-adopted EQC regulations on environmental review. In a suit filed last Tuesday in Ramsey District Court in St. Paul, MPIRG charges that the council went beyond its authority and acted contrary to a 1973 state law when it adopted regulations last month.

MPIRG claims that the law makes no provision for ordering of an environmental assessment rather than an impact statement.

EQC RULES were prepared at the order of the Minnesota Environmental Policy Act of 1973.

The council has until the end of the month to answer the court complaint. EQC sources have said the assessment procedure will enable the council to weed out projects unworthy of detailed study without a lot of paperwork for its small staff.

Jail report to be made Tuesday

Winona County and city officials are expected to learn Tuesday what should be done with the 80-year-old county jail.

Winona architect W. Wayne Smith is to meet at 3 p.m. Tuesday with the county board of commissioners and a joint city-county law enforcement committee studying the jail's future with an eye toward remodeling or replacing the jail with a combined facility that would include both the sheriff's department and the police department.

County Board Chairman Len Merchlewitz will chair the session, scheduled to be held in the jail.

The county board hired Smith in February to do a feasibility study and cost analysis of four alternatives: remodeling for county use only, remodeling for combined city-county use, replacement for county use and replacement for combined use.

Smith reportedly has his study finished and will give the results — with a recommendation — to officials Tuesday.

The Sunday News incorrectly reported the meeting would be at 10 a.m. Tuesday, but Merchlewitz said it is set for 3 p.m. The county welfare board will meet at 10 a.m.

Bicentennial lecture set here Wednesday

The 14th in the series of American Enterprise Institute Distinguished Lectures in celebration of the United States Bicentennial Observance will be presented here Wednesday.

The lecturer will be Dr. Kenneth B. Clark, psychology professor at the City University of New York who will discuss "The American Revolution, Democratic Politics and Popular Education."

The lecture will be presented at 3 p.m. at the Little Red School House, St. Charles, Minn., and at 8 p.m. at the Performing Arts Center, Winona State College.

MINNESOTA'S 1st District Rep. Albert H. Quie will introduce Dr. Clark, with the St.

Charles lecture to be videotaped for future national telecasting on the Public Broadcasting System.

The Winona County lecture is sponsored by the Winona County Historical Society and Winona State College, in cooperation with the institute.

The local sponsors will be host to a reception at the Winona County Historical Society Museum after the evening lecture.

Dr. Clark was awarded the Springarn Medal by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People in 1961 and is widely recognized as a civil rights leader.

AMONG his publications is the prize-winning book, "Dark Ghettos: Dilemmas of Social Power."

Dr. Clark's studies of racial discrimination in education were cited by the U.S. Supreme Court in 1954 when it issued its famous Brown versus Board of Education decision desegregating the nation's schools.

Dr. Ahmed El-Elendi, head of the political science department of Winona State College, was primarily responsible for the selection of Winona County as a site for one of the lectures.

The American Enterprise Institute for Public Policy Research is a Washington, D.C. based organization funded partially by the federal government and partially by public donation.

In its independent research it is deeply involved in public visual, audio and printed communications and presents daily briefings on significant news to members of Congress.

In addition to keeping Congress informed on public issues — its information also is available to the general public — it is responsible for publications dealing with a number of specific areas, both international and domestic.

A special grant was received for the development of the bicentennial lecture series.

In this area, the lecture series is televised at 10 p.m. Thursdays on La Crosse Channel 31 and at 5 p.m. Sundays on Minneapolis Channel 2.

PREVIOUS lectures have been presented at the National Academy of Science, Washington; St. John's Church, Washington; Independence Hall, Philadelphia; Old North Church, Boston; Georgetown University, Washington; the Kentucky State Legislature; Gallier House, New Orleans; Christ Church, Alexandria, Va.; Wren Building, Williamsburg, Va.; Stanford Memorial Church, Stanford, Calif.; Theodore Roosevelt University, Chicago; University of Virginia and Metropolitan Museum of Art, New York.

Dr. El-Elendi said that the selection of Winona County as a lecture site came about "something of an accident."

He explained that he noticed in a publication last summer that the lecture series was being arranged and wrote to the institute asking if it would be interested in presenting one in Winona.

"I didn't hear anything more from them and had almost forgotten about it," Dr. El-Elendi said, "until suddenly in January I received a call from the institute asking if we were still interested. I said we were and the lecture was arranged."

He noted that the person in charge of the series is Earl Pass, a vice president of the institute who is a former resident of La Crosse.

"He has relatives in Winona and therefore, knew about the city. I imagine that was a factor in the selection," Dr. El-Elendi said.

The lecture will be videotaped by the Winona State College Color Television Center, the first event it has videotaped for national television.

They voted almost unanimously, however, that general unconditional amnesty be granted to all who refused to participate in the Vietnam War for moral reasons.

There was a unanimous vote to request the secretary of agriculture to set dairy supports at no less than 100 percent of parity.

Lord no stranger to controversy

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — U.S. District Judge Miles Lord, who Saturday ordered that the Silver Bay, Minn., taconite plant of Reserve Mining Co. be closed, is no stranger to controversial cases.

Lord, 54, handed down a decision saying Reserve's dumping of taconite wastes into Lake Superior violated state and federal pollution standards. Reserve also closed its taconite mine at Babbitt, Minn. The closures threw about 3,200 northeastern Minnesota residents out of work.

Lord was named to the federal bench by former President Lyndon Johnson and confirmed by the Senate April 28, 1966.

Lord, then 46, was 31 when he became an assistant U.S. attorney in Minneapolis. Among successful prosecutions was the case of Minneapolis gambler Tommy Banks, who was charged with tax fraud.

Lord was elected Minnesota attorney general in 1964 and was twice reelected. He resigned in 1969 to go into private practice and was named U.S. attorney in 1961.

As attorney general and U.S. attorney, Lord participated in the investigation and prosecutions of defendants in the Sister Kenny Foundation mail fraud case, in which millions of dollars were illegally diverted.

A Minnesota native, Lord was born on a farm in Crow Wing County. He was graduated from high school and junior college

Steel mills scramble for ore sources

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Two of Ohio's steel giants scrambled for raw materials while a federal judge was to hear objections today to his order closing a Minnesota mining plant closed for allegedly polluting Lake Superior.

Judge Miles Lord ordered a Reserve Mining Co. facility closed Saturday after a nine-month trial, accused the firm of delaying tactics and not producing requested alternative disposal plans for taconite tailings.

Reserve maintains the wastes are not hazardous, and a company spokesman in Minneapolis said the company might appeal.

There would be no immediate effect on Reserve's parent companies, Armco or Republic Steel corporations, company spokesmen said Sunday. But spokesmen for the Ohio firms said efforts to secure iron ore from other sources were under way.

"We are not prepared to say a cutback will or won't result while we are considering what further legal steps might be taken," an Armco spokesman at the Middletown headquarters said.

Republic, the nation's fourth largest steel producer which has headquarters here, would draw on stock piles until other suppliers were found, Henry W. Hopwood, vice president for public relations, said.

Reserve closed its giant Silver Bay, Minn., iron-ore processing plant at midnight Saturday after Lord ruled the company's dumping of 67,000 tons of taconite wastes a day into Lake Superior endangered the health of residents of northeastern Minnesota. Lord said prolonged exposure to the asbestos fibers Reserve emits could cause cancer.

The plant, which produces 15 percent of the iron ore in the country, was ordered closed until it complies with state and federal antipollution laws.

Reserve supplied 75 percent of Armco's iron ore for plants in Ashland, Ky., Houston, and Hamilton and Middletown, Ohio, the Armco spokesman said.

Republic's steel plants in Cleveland, Warren, Clinton, Buffalo and Chicago drew a "substantial" portion of their raw materials from the Reserve works, but Hopwood declined to say exactly how much. He said another Republic facility in Gadsden, Ala., draws no ore from the Minnesota mine and would not be affected.

State weekend crashes kill 7

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The deaths of seven persons in weekend accidents raised Minnesota's 1974 road toll to 165, compared with 231 a year ago.

Two of the victims died in a head-on collision in Kandiyohi County, while the others all died in separate accidents.

Killed in the Saturday accident on U.S. 12 at the east edge of Atwater, Minn., were two Atwater residents. The State Patrol identified them as Bruce C. Hartung, 19, and Raymond Thorp, 68.

Both were alone in their cars, the patrol said.

A Minneapolis woman was killed and three other persons were injured Sunday in a rollover 9 miles north of Onamia, Minn., on U.S. 169.

Dorothy E. Nelson, 67, died in the accident. Her husband, Laverne, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brandt, also of Minneapolis, were hospitalized in fair condition.

A rural Faribault man was killed early Sunday when his vehicle left Int. 35 at Buck Hill in Burnsville, went down an embankment and rolled on top of him. The victim was identified as Glenn Harkins, 43.

Clifford Streich, 36, Cobden, Minn., was killed and his wife, Shirley, 41, was critically injured Saturday night when their car left the road and rolled at a T-intersection of Minn. 68 and Brown County Rd. 8 on the east edge of Evan.

A North St. Paul woman was struck and killed Saturday night when she either fell or jumped from a vehicle and landed in the path of another car traveling in the same direction on Int. 94 at Hamline Avenue in North St. Paul.

The State Patrol identified the victim as Julie A. Derauf, 26, who had been a passenger in a car driven by her husband, John Derauf, 29, North St. Paul.

The driver of the car which struck Mrs. Derauf was identified as Theodore Heller Jr., 26, Brooklyn Center. He was not injured.

Gary D. Latourelle, 19, rural Grasston, Minn., was killed Saturday in a head-on crash on Minn. 107 two miles north of Braham in Kanabec County.

The second driver, Donald R. Nelson, 22, Isanti, Minn., was hospitalized at Cambridge in serious condition. Both men were alone in their cars.

Reserve employe

'I hate to leave'

BABBITT, Minn. (AP) — "What if every working man in your town were laid off?" John Groeck asked.

The 47-year-old Reserve Mining Co. mechanic sat at the kitchen table in a trailer next to his partially constructed home in Babbitt, and said, "I hate to leave after fixing everything up, but I don't think I can wait for a disposal plant to be built. I'll have to do some sort of work."

Groeck, his two sons and a brother-in-law, are among more than 3,000 Reserve employes laid off after the taconite processing plant at Silver Bay, Minn., was closed by court order.

U.S. District Court Judge Miles Lord ordered the steel mill closed Sunday morning until the company constructs an on-land disposal system to keep taconite tailings containing allegedly harmful asbestos fibers from being dumped into Lake Superior.

Groeck and about 1,400 other miners started the small town of Babbitt about 23 years ago when Reserve began digging an open pit mine in northern Minnesota to provide iron ore for the Silver Bay processing plant 47 miles to the east.

Groeck's truck driver son, John Jr., was scheduled to work the last shift at the iron mine, but was turned away at the gate by company officials who decided to close an hour earlier than the court-ordered shutdown time.

Groeck Jr. said, "I was shook because I didn't think they would shut down this end."

"I can hardly believe the judge just decided to lower the boom all at once and put us out of our jobs," he said.

Groeck Jr. added, "Reserve should have been given a chance to build the on-land disposal system."

Babbitt's School Superintendent Robert Ginter, 48, wasn't surprised about the shutdown. After testifying last February about the financial conditions of the school and community, Ginter urged the school board to notify 14 probationary teachers there would not be jobs for them next year.

Ginter estimated 95 per cent of the Babbitt work force is employed at Reserve and the remaining 5 per cent are in supportive services such as the school, city or one of the community's half dozen small businesses.

Ginter added, "The people here are good, hard-working Americans who came here because there was a job here. They are the type of individuals who will adjust and look elsewhere to find other employment."

Babbitt and Silver Bay are connected by a railroad owned by Reserve that was used to haul 90,000 tons of unprocessed taconite ore to Silver Bay each day.

Residents in Silver Bay, most of whom depend on Reserve for their livelihood, are also very concerned, as questions begin to rise about what to do for an income, how to pay the mortgages and how to keep the schools operating.

Margaret Hudyma, who is a cook in a Silver Bay cafe, said, "People are just going to have to walk away from their homes and go bankrupt."

"I work here as a cook and my husband is a bartender in Beaver Bay, a couple miles up the shoreline. We're both 55, how are we ever going to find new jobs. It's too bad. This was a nice town in which to raise a bunch of kids."

She continued, "A lot of us figured there'd have to be a change, but we didn't think the plant would be shut down."

Silver Bay becomes quiet

SILVER BAY, Minn. (AP) — Most of the 6,500 residents of two northeastern Minnesota communities will have a lot of idle time on their hands in the days ahead, following the court-ordered shutdown of Reserve Mining Co. operations.

U.S. District Judge Miles Lord ordered Reserve to halt its daily discharge of up to 67,000 tons of taconite tailings into Lake Superior as of 12:01 a.m. Sunday.

The 24-hour-a-day operation at Reserve's processing plant at Silver Bay, Minn., was shut down at midnight Saturday. Round-the-clock operations at Babbitt, Minn., 47 miles inland, where Reserve's taconite ore is mined, ceased at the same time.

More than 3,000 Reserve employes in the two communities, 1,500 at Silver Bay and 1,600 at Babbitt, were forced out of work by the shutdown. They earned $34 million in annual wages.

Reserve President Edward Furness says his firm plans to appeal Lord's order, but it isn't known at this point whether any forthcoming appeal will succeed in allowing Reserve to resume operations.

The economic impact of the shutdown on the 3,000 residents of Babbitt and the 3,500 residents of Silver Bay could be shattering if the shutdown continues for an extended period. Virtually all residents in the two towns are dependent on Reserve for their livelihoods.

Many of the residents of the communities said they were shocked by the suddenness of Lord's decision. Some said they felt Lord would allow Reserve to gradually switch to an on-land disposal system.

Officials for Armco Steel and Republic Steel, Reserve's parent firms, testified during the nine-month trial that it would cost up to $400 million to switch to on-land disposal, a contention that Lord called "ridiculous."

Lord said in a 13-page memorandum Saturday that the company could afford to make changes in its disposal system.

Average cost of hospital care up 8.2 percent

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — A survey by Minnesota Blue Cross shows the average cost of a patient's stay in a Minnesota hospital last year increased 8.2 percent to $107.80.

By comparison, the overall Consumer Price Index of all goods and services in the nation went up 9 per cent in 1973.

While the average daily cost of a hospital stay in Minnesota increased slightly more than 8 per cent, the total average bill increased only 4.9 per cent because the average length of a patient's stay decreased.

The daily costs include the basic room charge, which includes meals, and the charge for ancillary services that cover everything else on the bill such as drugs, lab tests and operating room charges. The cost figures do not include the doctor's bill.

In Minneapolis, the average cost of a patient's stay was up 7.3 per cent, to $124.00 per day.

The average cost of a stay in a St. Paul area hospital in 1973 was $111.53 per day, an increase of 1.3 per cent.

The Duluth average was $92.34 per day, up 6.2 per cent.

Blue Cross is the largest health insurer in Minnesota, and its figures are considered a good guide to cost trends. However, they do not include patients over age 65, since they are covered by the federal Medicare program.

Orphan, friends reunited

NEW YORK (AP) — Greta Jean was only 8 in 1942 when her life was shattered in war-torn England. Her mother dead and her sister evacuated, Greta-Jean was befriended by Harry and Smitty, two American GIs.

ness, and on Sunday she and Harry and Smitty and their wives got together again in an unlikely reunion spurred by an emotional letter she wrote.

Remembering the kind things Harry and Smitty had done for her three decades ago, Greta-

Jean Jolliff, who now is the mother of three, reached out for them recently in a letter to "The Editor of the American Newspaper with the Widest Circulation."

The letter went to the New York Daily News, which published it. Publicity from the touching message reached Misha Robert Wendell Smith and Harry Littlefield.

Smith, 56, and Littlefield, 61, who lived within 90 miles of each other in Washington State without realizing it, recalled the grief-stricken wait they had cared for and arrangements were made through the News for a reunion.

Smith and Littlefield arrived with their wives at Kennedy Airport on Sunday in time to greet Mrs. Jolliff and her husband as they deplaned from a flight from London.

"Everything has been wonderful and it is fantastic," said Mrs. Jolliff, who turned 41 today. She is married to a railroad electrical technician.

"It's like something out of a movie," said Littlefield, a civil service heavy machine operator from Bellingham. Smith, a lawyer and real estate developer from Edmonds, said the incident was "so long ago I had nearly forgotten about it. I never ever expected to hear from her."

In her open letter to the former soldiers, Mrs. Jolliff recalled their kindnesses and said, "If you two never did anything else in life, this one act alone made your lives worthwhile, and I thank God for you. I do hope you read this and recognize yourselves."

The three couples, flown here at the News' expense, will stay in suites at the Hotel Billmore and spend three days renewing their acquaintance and touring the city.

"We have a lot of catching up to do," Mrs. Jolliff said.

W-K Parent Senate hears of alternate schools

Mrs. Paul Kronebusch, Winona Independent School District 861 board director, and Donald E. Nutt, principal-elect of Washington-Kosciusko, headed discussions on alternate schools at the Washington-Kosciusko Parent Senate meeting Thursday.

Alternative schools, offering a different approach to learning, generally provide students an opportunity to pursue their own interests and expand their own abilities. The main idea behind alternatives is to match the learner with the appropriate teaching style. While the style is important, the quality of the instructor is a definite factor in determining the extent of a child's learning.

Mrs. Kronebusch encouraged members to visit the Goodview Elementary School, one of four Title III projects in Minnesota being considered for national recognition. PLAN, the computer based program of instruction, offers a way to account for student progress.

Nutt spoke of the need for a vehicle for parents to discuss their point of view, and said the Parent Teacher Association and Parent Senate are two vehicles which may insure this kind of input.

This was the final Parent Senate meeting of the 1973-74 term.

FBI won't comment on SLA investigation

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The FBI would make no comment Sunday on a report that it had infiltrated a neighborhood where Patricia Hearst and her abductors, the Symbionese Liberation Army (SLA), were located.

An article in Newsweek Magazine said FBI agents,

"posing as postmen, garbage collectors, delivery men and the like," had infiltrated and "knew the neighborhood, if not the house, where the gang was hiding."

It has been 77 days since Miss Hearst, 20, was carried away screaming from her Berkeley, Calif., apartment by the terrorist revolutionary group.

Miss Hearst was photographed accompanying SLA bank robbers last Monday, and FBI and local law enforcement agencies since have imposed a gag rule to prevent release of information which could prove prejudicial in the eventual prosecutions of SLA members.

A debate has ensued over whether Miss Hearst, daughter of San Francisco Examiner Editor Randolph A. Hearst, was involved directly in the heist of $10,690 from a San Francisco bank or whether she was forced to participate.

In the robbery photographs, taken by a bank camera, Miss Hearst was seen carrying an automatic carbine. She was charged only with being a material witness in a federal complaint issued nine hours after the bank holdup and wounding of two bystanders.

Meanwhile, police say they will give a lie detector test to a roommate of Miss Hearst's cousin, William Randolph Hearst II. The roommate, Van R. Bush, 31, claims he was kidnapped last Thursday by three gunmen who referred to him as "Billy," a reference to Hearst.

Bush said he was released three hours later when he convinced the men he was not Hearst by showing them his driver's license.

It was decided to give Bush the lie detector test because he was hazy about some details of the incident.

Americans spend despite inflation

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Economists textbooks say that during periods of high inflation people are supposed to stop spending, but most Americans apparently do not read economists textbooks.

Despite soaring inflation, people are still spending like mad — and economists are puzzled.

The spending runs counter to most theories of traditional economic behavior, which say people tend to stash away more cash in bank accounts or safe investments during times of economic uncertainty.

The release of the first quarter economic statistics last week, which showed inflation rising steadily and the gross national product (GNP) falling, should have produced a nation of misers. But the personal savings rate — the percentage of income that is deposited into financial institutions — actually dropped during the first three months of 1974.

"The consumer is not just sitting in his cave waiting... he is out spending," Sydney Jones, chief economist of the Department of Commerce, said.

Inflation itself could be feeding the retail surge. "Buy now," the theory goes, "because things will only get more expensive next year."

Income tax refunds, a windfall for many families this time of the year, may also prompt more spending.

The buying binge would be good news during a normal economic slump. Those extra dollars flowing into the economy would be just the thing to get business moving again.

But the current decline is unusual because it is coupled with extraordinarily high inflation and the escalating prices are negating the benefits of the consumer spending.

"The problem is that the rate of inflation is too intensive for the consumer to increase the quantity of his acquisitions," Jones said. "You have to get improvement on inflation so that consumers can spend more money on goods rather than just prices."

Kennedy meets with Brezhnev in Moscow

MOSCOW (UPI) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy met with Soviet Communist leader Leonid I. Brezhnev today after running into confusion, embarrassment and some heckling when he tried a U.S.-style campus speech at a Russian university.

Soviet translators changed key sections of the Massachusetts Democrat's comments at Moscow State University and a college official tried to cut the remarks short by saying Kennedy was ill.

A jovial, gregarious Brezhnev met Kennedy, his wife, Joan, and their two children, Kara, 13, and Ted Jr. 12, at the Kremlin this morning, however, with smiles and handshakes.

"We'll talk about whatever he wants to talk about," Brezhnev told newsmen before taking Kennedy and his family into his study.

Brezhnev handed Kennedy an autographed picture of himself, causing Kara to ask if she could have one too. Brezhnev went right to his desk and signed another photo despite the senator's smiling protestations.

Kennedy's visit to the Soviet Union was the last stop on a three-nation, fact-finding tour of Eastern Europe. He previously visited Romania and Yugoslavia.

"We have a lot of catching up to do," Mrs. Jolliff said.

Petroleum price controls to be lifted in weeks

ORLANDO, Fla. (UPI) — Price controls on petroleum products will be lifted within a few weeks and retail gasoline prices may climb as much as five cents a gallon, the country's energy chief believes.

John C. Sawhill made the forecast in his first news conference Sunday since his promotion last week to federal energy administrator. Sawhill was formerly deputy energy chief under William Simon.

Here to address a meeting of the National Oil Jobbers Council at Walt Disney World, Sawhill also announced the formation of a 14-member wholesale petroleum advisory board to his agency. It will aid the government in finding ways "that will lead the country to greater self sufficiency of its petroleum," Sawhill said.

He said that when price controls were removed within a month or so, gasoline pump prices will increase from three to five cents a gallon.

"We will move back into a free market mode. There will be a tendency for prices to go up," he said. "Unless Ralph Nader has a magic wand for dealing with the Arab countries that we don't have, I don't

Colombia elects Michelsen

With a commanding and steadily increasing lead in returns from Sunday's election, Lopez claimed victory, and his chief opponent conceded.

"With emotion and gratitude I accept the mandate of the Colombian people," Lopez said in a statement read to newsmen.

Official returns from 20 per cent of the votes cast Sunday gave Lopez, an attorney and former foreign minister, 436,990 votes; Conservative candidate Alvaro Gomez Hurtado, 332,225; and Maria Eugenia Rojas de Moreno, daughter of ex-dictator Gustavo Rojas Pinilla, 89,850.

Two other candidates, Hernando Echeverri of the communist-led Uno coalition, and Christian Democrat Hermes Duarte, trailed far behind. Lopez, the favorite in opinion polls, based his campaign on the country's 32 per cent inflation rate. But recently he came out strongly against U.S. policy in Latin America.

"We are being given smiles by the (U.S.) State Department, while at the same time the Department of Commerce imposes trade restrictions and Congress introduces punitive actions against our countries," he said in one speech.

U.S. investment in Colombia totals about $600 million, mainly in oil, banks and industry.

The new president is 60 and is the son of Alfonso Lopez Pumarejo, who was president in 1934-38 and again in 1942-46.

Here's An Interesting Fact!

Did you know that America had no income tax at all for almost the first 100 years of this nation's history?

The first income tax was not put into effect until 1862.

And that didn't last because the Supreme Court declared it unconstitutional!

The income tax did not become permanent until 1913 when the 16th Amendment was passed, which for the first time permitted the government to legally collect an income tax.

An impression of money, law and politics

George Moneyhun, chief of the New York bureau of the Christian Science Monitor, writing on the Monitor's editorial page:

Regardless of the innocence or guilt of John N. Mitchell and Maurice H. Stans, the conspiracy trial of the former Cabinet members raises some serious questions about how government and politics operate in America's capital.

A reporter who has sat in the lofty, oak-paneled courtroom in Manhattan's federal courthouse through five weeks of testimony comes away with one overriding impression: Money and influence peddling play much too big a role in the government of this country.

A MAJOR defense argument in the trial is that former Attorney General and ex-Commerce Secretary only did for financier Robert L. Vesco what any congressman or senator would do for a constituent or friend: They tried to help him cut through the government "red tape" to reach the right person he needed to see about a problem. In this instance that person was the chairman of the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) and the problem was an investigation the SEC was pressing into the vast financial holdings of Mr. Vesco.

Even if, as the defense contends, there was no ulterior motive, the question lingers: Could Mr. Vesco have made those contacts he considered vital had he not contributed $250,000 to the Nixon reelection campaign? Should a wealthy contributor have quicker access to his government than a poor struggling tenant farmer on the Mississippi delta, or a middle-class suburbanite, or anyone else who can't afford a large political contribution?

Mr. Mitchell's attorneys argue that the $250,000 Vesco contribution was scarcely a drop in the bucket—only one-third of 1 percent—of the some $60 million the President's campaign committee was able to collect. They ask: Would Mr. Mitchell or Mr. Stans risk their careers for such a pittance?

MAYBE NOT. That may prove an effective defense for the former campaign officials, but it says even more about the need for strong campaign spending legislation. The Vesco contribution is not the only one being questioned in Washington and elsewhere. What about the $100,000 Howard Hughes contribution? The milk producers' donations, and the ITT gift?

And certainly it is not a problem limited to Republicans or the Nixon administration, as recent questions about Congressman Wilbur Mills and other Democrats' campaigns are pointing up.

While the Mitchell-Stans trial is laying bare one frailty of our political system, it strangely enough is bolstering the confidence of this reporter in his country's overall system of government. The judicial process, it appears, is healthy and working well.

Dark-haired, soft-spoken U.S. District Judge Lee P. Gagliardi appears aware of his special responsibility. From the outset Judge Gagliardi has stressed that not only the spirit and the letter of the law must be carried out, but the appearance that justice is being done must be preserved. And to this end Judge Gagliardi has run a strict courtroom. He has cut no corners and has been quick to issue a strong rebuke to the defense or prosecution when he feels either has stepped out of line.

He went to unusual lengths in an attempt to find a fair and impartial jury, questioning each prospective juror individually in his chambers about possible prejudice from pretrial news coverage. And stringent security measures have kept the jury from any outside influence whatsoever since the trial started.

ONE OF the ironies of this case is that Mr. Mitchell, the former law and order advocate of the Nixon administration was instrumental in enacting the conspiracy law under which he is now being tried. His hope was to use the law to prosecute radical groups, but none of the trials of the left-wing groups have resulted in guilty verdicts, largely because it has proven extremely difficult to pinpoint and produce evidence of a conspiracy when all of the alleged conspirators have close relationships and will not readily testify against their partners. And the prosecutors in the Mitchell-Stans trial are having no less difficulty in trying to prove a conspiracy in their case.

Outside the tall federal court house here, these words are etched in stone on a neighboring building: "The Administration of Justice Is The Firmest Pillar of Good Government."

To at least one reporter, this pillar still seems in good shape.

Sing praises to God, sing praises: sing praises unto God our King.—Psalm 47:6.

Nixon takes on economic policy

William S. White

WASHINGTON — The changing of the guard at the Treasury, where William Simon succeeds George Shultz as the second-ranking member of the Cabinet, has one meaning that totally obscures all others.

This is that President Nixon—and in a most surprising belated way in this observer's opinion—is going at last to take direct charge of the economic policies of the United States.

Shultz, a classically conservative economist of the highest personal integrity and the hardest of heads against the very thought of real wage and price controls, has been running this show.

HE HAS not only been secretary of the treasury; he has also worn another hat as chairman of the Council on Economic Policy. This in bread-and-butter matters is roughly the equivalent of the National Security Council in war and peace matters.

In a word, George Shultz has been what might be called the rich man's Henry Kissinger, exercising in his bailiwick as much power as has Kissinger in foreign relations.

The President, for his part, has appeared to stand slightly apart from national economic policy, only occasionally entering that arena to put him imprint on plans drawn by others. Why he has so proceeded is conjectural but educated guesses may be offered.

In the first place, Mr. Nixon's true and ultimate interest has always lain in foreign as distinguished from domestic policy-making.

In the second place, he is at heart a great free market man and re-coils from any form of controls even though at one time he put them on—and made them work. That was back in the days of Phase II, remember?

In the third place, there is always the intense presidential preoccupation with Watergate.

SO MUCH, then, for the past. The future holds a quite different prospect. The White House emphasizes that Simon, the new secretary-designate of the Treasury, is not to pre-empt the economic council, as did Shultz. Rather, the new chairman is to be Richard Nixon.

Furthermore, it is emphasized, the President "intends to play an increasing, expanded role in the formulation of economic policy." A free-handed interpretation of this statement is that Mr. Nixon has finally got a message.

This is that much of the present weakness of the Republican party, not to mention of his own administration, stems from inflation and fears of some recession or the like than from the far more melodramatic issue called Watergate.

For the recent series of Republican defeats in special congressional elections, the last of them so recently in Michigan, can easily be put down as due to Watergate and to Mr. Nixon's tax troubles if one wishes—as many do. Nevertheless, this is a gross oversimplification.

To be sure it is now all but certain that the GOP is going to take a pasting in the general congressional elections of next November. But so did the Democrats under Harry Truman, in 1946, only to return him to the presidency two years later.

Richard Nixon can't save his congressional wing this year. But if he truly gets hold of the economy and beats inflation he might well save the presidency for his party in 1978. Hence he now bestirs himself in a field—the economy—that is by no means his favorite.

Affluence and survival

Anthony Lewis

"If the strong attempt to impose their views, they will do so at the cost of justice . . . improving the quality of life has become a universal political demand, a technical possibility and a moral imperative." Secretary of State Kissinger at the United Nations.

It must have been Oscar Wilde—or was it Mao Tse-tung?—who said: "When I hear Henry Kissinger talk about justice and morality, I reach for my dynamite." Anyone might suspect cynicism in such talk by a man who has wasted five years so far, and numberless lives, trying to impose American views on Indochina, and who until recently showed not the slightest interest in questions of world poverty, trade, finances and resources.

But however cynical Kissinger may be, and however late his discovery of economics, his speech to the special United Nations session on raw material and development did deal with what is very likely the most important long-term issue we face. That is, putting it broadly: How can the fruits of this earth be shared equitably enough at least to reduce the chances of mass starvation, economic collapse and war?

THE TROUBLE is that the secretary of state alone cannot begin to deal with all the profound problems of material yearning, psychology and nationalism involved in that issue. Even if he could find time to negotiate with other countries about world economic conflicts as well as arms control and the Middle East, he could not carry the burden of policy and exhortation at home. And on these questions change in the world depends on change here in America.

Consider a homely example. While Americans fretted over waiting in gasoline lines this winter, farmers in India waited in lines for five days to fill a 5-gallon gasoline can. They needed the fuel not for computing or pleasure driving but to run the pumps that give their farms water.

There was not enough gasoline in India for that most urgent necessity, and the direct result of inadequate watering is now apparent. The U.S. Department of Agriculture estimates that lack of fuel for the water pumps has cost India one million tons of her spring wheat crop.

The price of crude oil has risen so sharply that a poor country such as India cannot buy what it needs. There is a direct effect on food production through shortfalls of pumped water and even more significantly of fertilizer.

WHAT HAS all that to do with us? Does it matter to Asian peasants how we live and think in America? The answer is that it matters to the point of life and death. We must begin to understand why.

In the short run American economic aid policies are of vital importance. What must our sense of values be, our grasp of the real problems of humanity, when this year we are spending more than 10 times as much on South Vietnam (population 19 million) as on India, Pakistan and Bangladesh combined (population 711 million)?

Even to begin talking about world action on food and resources, Henry Kissinger had to overcome tough opposition from the Treasury and Agriculture Department on the narrowest commercial grounds. Secretary of Agriculture Butz tours Japan and Taiwan to view good dollar customers for American food products, but he doesn't go to South Asia.

But we are connected with the needs of the world in a deeper sense. Stability, even survival, will not be possible for hundreds of millions of people if Americans continue relentlessly to pursue super-affluence.

If this country eats and uses and burns so much of the world's resources on an ever-increasing scale, then the supply for others is likely to be shorter and dearer. Certainly in oil, the crucial commodity now, we could have a much more potent influence toward deflating the wild prices by curbing our own huge demand growth prospect than by talking at the United Nations.

These are requirements not of charity but of wise self-interest. It would not be much of a future to defend a fortress of affluence in a hungry world.

FOR A WHILE this winter William Simon talked of making permanent changes in American lifestyle, moving us from a habit of waste to one of conservation. But all that has been forgotten in the pell-mell rush for normalcy, meaning exploitation. Kissinger's speeches will not count for much while we have a President who tells the Seafarers Union, as Nixon did last November, that America uses 30 percent of the world's energy and "that isn't bad; that is good. That means we are the richest, strongest people in the world . . . may it always be that way."

The Chinese pay a 'modest' call

James Reston

WASHINGTON — A few days ago, Teng Hsia-ping, the new 70-year-old deputy premier of China, flew to New York, had a long, private conversation with Secretary of State Kissinger and flew back to Peking again as suddenly as he arrived.

That was Teng's first visit to the West in 48 years, and it may be he merely wanted to see the United Nations in operation and show China's respect for the special session there on the price and distribution of raw materials in the world. But the assumption of most diplomats was that, like most world leaders these days, he wanted to see Kissinger.

THAT IS becoming a common occurrence. When in doubt, see Henry.

Pigs in a python

Russell Baker

Is the baby going the way of the manned bomber and the nickel candy bar?

The population figures suggest that such is the case. Increasing numbers of women decline to reproduce and those who proceed are cutting down on quantity, with the result that pediatricians are looking for other lines of work and the night howl of the tooth cutter is becoming as rare as the mating call of the loon.

THE BIRTH rate may, in fact, be down to zero-population-growth level, at least for the moment. This is ecologically satisfying in the long run, but people live and suffer in the short run, and in the short run—say over the next 30 years—this change in population balance will not be easy for us.

The chief difficulty arises from the existence of a very large body of people who are now under 30. Most of these people are not going to go away over the next 30 years. They are simply going to get older. If they do not reproduce significantly, we will become a country, first, of the middle-aged and then of the old.

The existence of this disproportionate bulge in the population created the famous youth culture of the 1960's when merchandisers discovered that half the population was under age 28 and had money to burn. As they age they will become an even richer market, and we may anticipate that merchandisers will gradually accommodate to it by replacing the already faded youth culture with, first a middle-aged culture and, finally, a graybeard culture.

All very well for the bulge group, you may say. It will continue to dominate society as it passes through the decades like a pig through a python. But what sort of country shall we become in the passage?

THERE WILL be small gains. Grandmothers will no longer be able to cavort like sweet 16 and old people will no longer be conditioned to feel antisocial because they lack youth.

This could become unpleasant, however, for a generation that has imposed the burdens of youth on its elders may find it only natural, as it ages, to impose the burdens of age on its young. If at the age of 22 they could make dad get into blue jeans and mom into blue hair, is it inconceivable that at the age of 50 they could have their outnumbered children wearing dental plates and surgically produced double chins?

Many of these people, remember, will not have children of their own, and so age's natural bent for tyrannizing youth will not have been tempered by the long, loving education of having had youth around the house, ruining the towels and denting the car.

A large number of these people, in fact, will be cut off from young society. Lacking children to open windows for them on a changing world, they will probably suffer from the stifling viewpoint toward variety and change which characterizes people insulated from other age groups.

We can also anticipate political tensions between the childless group assuming it will be enough to worry politicians—and those who have children. At first these might involve quarrels about school taxes, military service, curfew laws, juvenile crime and income-tax breaks.

AS THE bulge group passes into retirement age, both the childless and the child-bearing factions will probably make common political cause against the diminished young population, which would be increasingly hard-taxed to pay retirement benefits for the aging majority.

There are also unanswerable questions about how the remnant American youth will adapt to a country in which youth is in short supply. Women who have babies now are

THE DOMINANT personalities and tone of China's diplomacy are changing. Chou En-lai seemed to be the informing mind and the decisive voice in Peking when Mr. Nixon visited there. Chou dealt with the practical details of policy and established a close personal relationship of respect and even admiration with Kissinger.

But the messages from Peking to Washington now come directly from Mao Tse-tung through different envoys. On his last visit to Peking, Kissinger found that it was Mao Tse-tung who was defining not merely the philosophy of China as before, but the policy of China on Taiwan, Southeast Asia, Europe, Japan and atomic weapons.

Chou En-lai remains the premier of China, but he seems to be less prominent now, and references to him in diplomatic conversation are politely ignored by Chinese diplomats. Teng, when he was in New York, insisted that China's cautious policy of accommodation with the United States remained the same and wanted to be assured that Washington felt the same way, but Chou En-lai's name and role were seldom mentioned.

Chou told President Pompidou of France just before Pompidou died that as he (Chou) looked to the future, his concern was that China should recognize that its growing power should be tempered by "modesty."

INTERNAL political weaknesses in nations not only impede progress, but encourage foreign adventures and even the risk of disastrous wars. That could happen in the Middle East and along the Sino-Soviet border much more easily and suddenly than most people suppose, and the burden of avoiding it falls largely on the United States and also, under the present circumstances in Washington, on the judgement and energy of Henry Kissinger.

Kissinger doesn't have the answer to all those problems. Sen. Jackson of Washington thinks Kissinger is all wrong on most of them, and even Kissinger's old colleagues in the universities are fussing at him, but the weaker President Nixon becomes politically, the more the leaders of the world like Teng turn to Kissinger for guidance and support.

Season's closed on Alaska husband hunt

DEAR ABBY: A 45-year-old woman, looking for a husband, asked you where all the men were, and you told her to go to Alaska.
Please, Abby! We don't need any more women up here.
The average age for a woman here is 27, and, except for the military, there aren't any spare men around. We have plenty of drifters, but they're very poor husband material.
Also, you said, "... and if you should get lucky, the nights are six months long." A lot of people didn't know you were kidding. You would have to go way up into the Arctic Circle to find darkness during the daytime.
Please, do us a favor and set the record straight, and don't send us any more women! Not to Anchorage anyway.
LIVES HERE

DEAR LIVES: For another discouraging word, read this letter from Fairbanks, Alaska:
DEAR ABBY: Please don't start another gold rush in Alaska. We have enough trouble with men (and even whole families) who come here looking for jobs on the Alaskan pipeline which hasn't even been started yet.
In the first place, nobody should come to Alaska unless he has a job assured him because unemployment in this state is 10.4 percent — the highest in the nation. And furthermore, there's an Alaskan law giving job preference to Alaskans.
Another thing people don't know: The cost of living is high in Alaska. A bacon and egg breakfast in a good restaurant costs from $3 to $5, and a good steak dinner costs anywhere from $8 to $15. And if you're looking for cheap housing, forget it.
Abby, do a lot of people a big favor and print this.
YOUR FRIEND IN FAIRBANKS

DEAR FRIEND: That settles it. Don't any of you women go to Alaska in search of a husband, and don't any of you men go there unless you have a job in your pocket!

DEAR ABBY: Le Roy and I have been married for only a year, and already we're having problems. The biggest one is that he is crazy about country and western dancing and I've never even tried it. You have to have the right kind of clothes to dance country and western, and the boots alone cost $65. I don't want to spend that much money on something I might not like.
Le Roy says if I won't go with him, he'll go without me. And he does. I don't like the idea of him dancing and drinking with other girls while I sit home. I don't mind his going out with a bunch of guys, but not for doing things that involve other girls. He thinks I'm being unreasonable.
Do you think I should put my foot down on Le Roy for going dancing without me? And if so, how hard?

JUNE BUG
DEAR JUNE BUG: The place for your foot is not on Le Roy. It's in a Western boot all set to learn how to dance Country and Western. And if you're smart, you'll love it.

DEAR ABBY: I work as a cashier at a well-known chain grocery store, and my problem is the way people treat me. They act like it's my fault that prices are so high. They yell at me when I ring up items, and ask me how come canned corn went up four cents in one week. When they pay their money, they say: "Look at that! I used to be able to get three bags of groceries with a $50 bill!"
They don't realize that I only work there, and I have to buy groceries just like they do.
And while I'm griping, I may as well mention those customers who wait till their order is totaled, and then ask to get a check cashed while customers are waiting in line behind them. Meanwhile the cashier gets the dirty looks from the other customers.
I used to love my work, but no longer! Please print this. I got it off my chest, and believe it or not, I feel better.

DEAR SUNNY: Consider it printed. Now ... smile!

Your horoscope — Jeane Dixon

For TUESDAY, April 23:

Your birthday today. Even trivial incidents this year have a touch of glamor. Sound improvements come easier but require special self-discipline against many temptations to take the handy way out. Relationships of all sorts tend to drift; no harm done so long as you're candid about what's happening. Today's natives have high organizational ability which is unlikely to be challenged seriously this year, so they are apt to scheme for lack of anything else to do.

Aries (March 21-April 19): Make financial plans, commitments, settle bills and budgets. It's easy to put things off, particularly if they shouldn't be. Share a good mood.

Taurus (April 20-May 20): An early start and much self-stirring of will power seem essential today if you are to get the benefit of a strange subtle turn of events.

Gemini (May 21-June 20): Sick to routine, clear off all you can manage. If you find you are not concentrating, give yourself a break as insurance against needless error.

Cancer (June 21-July 22): Taking pleasure in the sort of day it is doesn't necessarily set all your proper work done. Push a bill to see where your own limits are.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22): Laziness may set in — it's up to you to stay on your toes. Make use of cooperation available on all sides, offer assistance to those who need it.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Your scholarship increases! Pursuit of interesting new information is the most desirable course to follow. Share favorite pastimes; see the humorous side.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Whatever else you do, begin early and stay on top of the job you're supposed to do. Review your resources and the way they are arranged.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): People are more open to unusual ideas, a well-organized campaign, but you have to supply the energy. Something you've been putting off a long time is available.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Home and household details could stand some minor changes. Improvements. Progress on your vocation is slow but positive now.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Make the most of this relatively pleasant day from the minute you arise, pursuing every ounce of experience of new-and-now circumstances.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): A good day for serious thought, study of your current situation, the path by which you got into it, but not a day for drastic action to change anything.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20): Being on time is important. Call in all those who have promised to cooperate, find out who will and who won't, and go ahead with what you have.

16,412 watch Saints rip Aeros 4-1

By TOM HARRIGAN
ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — The hockey sticks swung up to head level Sunday night, and that meant trouble for the Minnesota Fighting Saints. But a better job of putting their sticks on the puck eventually earned a 4-1 World Hockey Association playoff victory over the Houston Aeros.

The Saints lead the best of seven series two games to one, with game four not until next Sunday, also in St. Paul.

Hundreds of the largest crowd in the WHA's two-year history, 16,412 persons, were still searching for their seats when league scoring leader Mike Walton of Minnesota was cut on the nose by the stick of Houston defenseman John Schella. Walton's retaliatory stick swinging got him thrown out of the game at 2:19 of the first period.

"I was around him cleanly with the puck and he gave me a two handed," Walton said. "The blade end of his stick hit me on the nose and I think it's broken."

Referee Bill Friday gave Walton a game misconduct penalty, letting Schella off with a five minute penalty for slashing.

"I'm not the kind to swing a stick at anybody unless they try to take my eye out," said Walton, who normally plays about 35 minutes of every 60 minute game, and had 57 goals and 60 assists in the regular season.

Houston Coach Bill Dineen said he didn't think Schella had intentionally hurt Walton. He said he was more concerned with his team's collapse after taking a 1-0 lead.

"We controlled the second game of the series at Houston and were in control in the first period here, then we seemed to lose all of our steam," Dineen said. Houston had beaten the Saints 5-2 Saturday night in Houston to even the series at 1-1 as they outshot the Saints 40-14. But it was the Saints holding a wide edge in Shots Sunday night, 36-20, as Houston gave Minnesota goalie Mike Curran little to worry about.

"It was the best game this team has ever played when I've been in the nets," Curran said. He had been unhappy on the bench during the first two games in Houston as rookie John Garrett was the choice in both games.

Saints Coach Harry Neale said that Curran probably will get another start next Sunday.

"We just didn't want to lose it," Neale said of the Saints' three goal comeback in the second period, led by two goals from George Morrison.

"We didn't want Walton to feel it was his fault, and our guys really skated those last two periods," Neale said.

Concerning the Walton-Schella incident and the referee's decision, Neale said: "If you swing and hit you get five minutes. If you swing and miss you get five minutes and you get thrown out of the game."

Saints' President Wayne Belisle was fined $500 Sunday by WHA President Dennis Murphy for personally berating referee Ron Sloan during the Saturday game in Houston. Belisle said Sunday night he thought the officiating went too far again.

"Do you think Gordie Howe would have been thrown out in Houston?" Belisle asked, questioning whether the team leader of the Aeros would have been given similar treatment.

As it was Howe played only a bit more than Walton, and has only one assist in the three games so far. Walton had two goals and one assist in the pair of games at Houston, including the game winner in overtime in the series opener.

Part of Houston's problem was a tired, ailing Howe, who played only a small percentage of the game. He has had only one assist in the three games against the Saints, after 31 goals and 69 assists in the regular season.

"We've got a few injuries and Gordie Howe has had the flu for two weeks," Dineen said. "Not playing again until next Sunday is going to make a difference. They're a younger hockey team than we are and it showed tonight. But you'll see a different Gordie Howe when he feels better."

Dineen said that referee Friday had told players on both teams before the game that "if anybody swings a stick, they're going to go."

Saints' concern over the referee's decision and Walton's injured nose were eased considerably by the attendance, breaking a Saints and WHA record of 14,711 set earlier this year.

The Saints have lost an estimated $3 million in the two years of battling fan apathy and the rival Minnesota North Stars of the National Hockey League.

But the North Stars' failure to make the NHL playoffs this spring, and the strong finish by the Saints, turned fan interest to the new team and new league.

The St. Paul Civic Center crowd of 16,412 included 707 persons buying standing room and all 15,705 seats filled. The total surpassed the North Stars' record of 15,761 at Bloomington, Minn., set in a regular season game against the New York Rangers in March, 1973.

AFTER WINNING MONSANTO... Lee Elder carries the trophy from his victory at the Monsanto Open as he walks with his wife, Rose, early this morning after arriving at Baltimore International Airport. (AP Photofax)

After winning Monsanto Open

Elder will accept Masters' berth

By BOB GREEN
PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP) — There's no longer any question about it.

"I will definitely accept an invitation to the Masters and I will definitely play in the Masters," Lee Elder told The Associated Press in the wake of his victory in the Monsanto Open Golf Tournament Sunday.

Elder's triumph, secured by a birdie on the fourth hole of a sudden-death playoff with England's Peter Oosterhuis, made him the first black ever eligible to compete in the famed event in Augusta, Ga. — until now an all-white affair.

For a while, Elder left things up in the air about accepting the invitation.

"It's a year away," he said. "I'll have to weigh that somewhat. This (a victory) has been a long time coming. I really don't want to be put on the spot as to yes or no right now. I'll have to weigh it carefully."

"There's a lot of tournaments and a lot of playing to be done between now and then. Anything can happen," Elder said.

Moments later, Clifford Roberts, the man who runs the allinvitational Masters, issued a statement saying Elder definitely will be extended an invitation to the 1975 Masters.

"He has earned his invitation and we are very delighted he has done so," Roberts said.

"That's fine," Elder said. "Tell Mr. Roberts I'll see him at the Masters."

Still later, however, he repeated that "I will have to weigh it carefully" and left the issue in doubt until telling The AP "I definitely will play in the Masters."

Elder is not the first black to win. Charley Sifford and Pete Brown both scored victories in regular tour events. But their triumphs came before the Masters had changed its rules to make all winners of regular tour tournaments eligible for inclusion in the Masters field.

Elder and Oosterhuis finished the regulation 72 holes at 274, 10 under par on the tight, 6,679-yard Pensacola Country Club course. Elder had a finishing 67, Oosterhuis 69.

Al Geiberger, with a 70-276, and Miller Barber and Ray

Floyd, each 68-278, followed.

WSC, SMC in thick of races

Winona State and St. Mary's colleges are right in the thick of their respective conference baseball races after the first two weeks of action.

Two-time Northern Intercollegiate Conference champion Winona State boasts a 6-0 conference record (the Warriors are 16-3 overall) and is a full game ahead of runner-up Southwest State.

Southwest swept a three-game series from Moorhead over the weekend, dumping the Dragons twice Saturday, 2-1 and 6-2. Bemidji split with St. Cloud Saturday, the Beavers winning the 12-inning opener 2-0 and the Huskies the nightcap 1-0.

The Warriors' next NIC confrontation will be Friday and Saturday when they travel to Moorhead for a three-game series.

In the meantime, however, the Warriors will head down the river Wednesday for a 1 p.m. nonconference doubleheader with archrival Wisconsin - La Crosse.

La Crosse was the only team to beat WSC on the Warriors' home turf last year when they split, the Indians winning 3-0 and the Warriors winning 7-1.

St. Mary's is also unbeaten in its loop race, the Minnesota Intercollegiate Athletic Conference, with a 4-0 record that is right behind league-leader St. John's, which boasts a 6-0 mark.

St. John's whipped Hamline twice Saturday, 5-1 and 9-1.

St. Mary's, 7-6 overall, has six games on tap this week, the Redmen scheduled to host Concordia Tuesday, travel to Luther (nonconference) Thursday and travel to St. Thomas Saturday. All three doubleheaders will start at 1 p.m.

Celtics psyched by Garden fans

NEW YORK (AP) — The aura of invincibility that once surrounded the New York Knicks before their wildly enthusiastic home fans — and frightened opposing teams — appears to be disappearing... at least as far as the Boston Celtics are concerned.

"The crowd yelling is not always to the benefit of the home club," suggested Boston Coach Tom Heinsohn after the swift and brawny Celtics had raced and battled to a 98-91 victory over the Knicks Sunday before a capacity crowd of 19,964 at Madison Square Garden and a national television audience.

"In that situation, our guys tend to get super psyched up," added Heinsohn, who also indicated that the National Basketball Association Eastern Conference final series might be taking on "a reverse home court edge."

The triumph gave the Celtics a solid 3-1 lead in the best-of-seven competition and put the Knicks, defending NBA champions, on the brink of elimination from the playoffs. The Celtics could clinch the series with a victory in Game Five Wednesday night at Boston Garden.

"I'm still confident," said Walt Frazier, the Knicks' high scorer with 25 points. "If we can beat them up there again, I don't think they can beat us three straight at Madison Square Garden."

"It's very unusual for us to win two games in New York," said John Havlicek, Boston's captain and leader with 36 points. "They're a very good team at home."

If the Celtics eliminate the Knicks, they likely will face the Milwaukee Bucks for the league title. The Bucks, with a 3-0 lead over Chicago following their 113-90 triumph Saturday, can end their Western Conference final series tonight by beating the Bulls at Milwaukee.

In the American Basketball Association, the New York Nets won the East Division playoff title and qualified for the final round, trouncing the Kentucky Colonels 103-90 Saturday night and completing a 4-0 sweep. In the West, the Utah Stars — minus ailing center Zelmo Beaty — will try to oust the Indiana Pacers tonight in Game Five at Salt Lake City. Utah leads the series 3-1.

Brewers lose to Tigers in 14th, 6-5

DETROIT (UPI) — Designated hitter Al Kaline dribbled a single up the middle with two out in the 14th inning Sunday, scoring Jim Northrup from second base and giving the Detroit Tigers a 6-5 victory over the Milwaukee Brewers.

Losing reliever Tom Murphy, 1-1, retired the first two batters in the 14th but Northrup bloomed a double into right-center which centerfielder Bob Coluccio reached but could not catch.

Kaline's second hit of the game, which moved him into 20th place on the all-time hit list with 2,876, was a dirty hit which wormed its way around shortstop Robin Yount and second baseman Pedro Garcia to allow Northrup to scoot home and end the game.

Reliever John Hiller won his third game without a loss for going 7 2-3 innings and allowing only one hit in relief of starter Mickey Lolich.

Mickey Stanley ripped a double to left with two on and two out in the ninth to send the game into extra innings. Norm Cash had singled to start the ninth and was bunted to second.

Rookie catcher Charlie Moore got his first three hits of the season and drove in two runs. His second inning sacrifice fly preceded a sacrifice fly by Yount and his single in the eighth gave Milwaukee a 5-4 lead.

Twins aided by umpire's call

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — Minnesota brought the high-flying Texas Rangers' five-game victory string to a halt Sunday with the help of a rare judgment call by umpire Ron Luciano that he said, "I'd stake my life on."

Joe Decker and Bill Campbell combined for a seven-hitter to muffle the hot Ranger bats and the Twins bombed starter Jim Bibby and two relief pitchers for 15 hits in an 8-2 American League victory.

Ranger manager Billy Martin protested the game because of a sixth-inning incident in which a grounder by Jeff Burroughs with the bases loaded struck Toby Harrah going from second to third.

Luciano ruled both Harrah and Burroughs out because "the rule says there has to be willful intent and I believe there was."

The Rangers swarmed Luciano and Martin announced he was filing a protest. Burroughs was ejected for arguing.

"I'll stake my life I was right on it," Luciano said. "I might blow the next 50,000 but not that one. Toby isn't a dumb player. He knew it would have been a double play if he hadn't let the ball hit him."

"I don't think Billy will follow through on the protest. He knows it's a judgment thing. I've called it before, but I can't remember when."

Harrah said, "I asked why he (Luciano) called it a double play and how did he know there was intent. Luciano replied, 'a good base runner would try to get hit in a situation like that and you're a good base runner.'"

Twins' Manager Frank Quilici said "it was a perfect double play ball. You can bet I would have been out there (on the field) if Luciano hadn't called it."

Martin said he protested because Luciano "never got specific" on just what Harrah did.

"Did Toby hesitate, stop... or what?" Martin asked. "Luciano wouldn't say."

The score was 5-0 when the rhabubar erupted but Tom Grieve doubled in the same inning to make it 5-2.

Larry Hise of the Twins made the furor academic with a three-run homer in the eighth inning that gave Decker his second victory in as many decisions. Bobby dropped to 3-2 with the loss.

The loss knocked the Rangers out of first place in the American League West.

You can't improve on the original.

THE WORLD'S FINEST BOURBON

Bulls must find new ploy to remain alive

CHICAGO (UPI) — The Chicago Bulls need to find a new ploy tonight to keep alive their National Basketball Association playoff series against the Milwaukee Bucks.

Saturday, when the Bulls lost 113-111 to give the Bucks a 3-0 lead in their best of seven series, three of the sideliners were ejected from the game, and one of them, Bulls' Coach Dick Motta, conceded he brought about his own eviction in the hopes of giving his team a spark to go on and win.

Motta was thrown out for throwing his coat at one of the officials, Don Murphy, with the comment that "You've taken everything else, take my coat too." Seconds later, the Bulls injured hero, Jerry Sloan, was invited to leave his place on the bench and go to the dressing room for his verbal comments to the officials and even the team mascot, red-clad and horned Benny the Bull, was ejected for his comments.

But none of the ejections were of any avail against the Bucks, who still had Kareem Abdul-Jabbar on the court. And unless the Bulls can figure out some way of getting Abdul-Jabbar ejected tonight, they probably will be eliminated from the playoffs in four straight games.

The Bulls will be playing against an historic precedent anyhow, since never in the 49ers sign Reed

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Quarterback Joe Reed has signed a new multi-year contract with the San Francisco 49ers. Reed will compete against Steve Spurrier for the No. 1 quarterback spot.

"I'm very happy with the contract," Reed said over the weekend. "I can pay for my groceries now."

Reed had been drafted by Houston of the World Football League.

NBA playoffs has a team lost the first three games of a series and come back to win four straight and take the best of seven title.

The Bucks have won three of four games on the Bulls court this season, with Jabbar the unbeatable factor. In his last appearance, he scored 44 points, only two short of his personal playoff single game record, and unless the Bulls can devise a method to keep him from getting the ball, he might surpass that total in any game.

The Bulls theory has been to cut down the production of the other four Bucks while containing Jabbar as well as possible.

"If we can keep the other four down," Motta said, "you know Jabbar isn't going to score 100 points alone to beat us."

But so far the Bulls, who have won only one playoff series in seven tries, haven't been able to contain Jabbar or the other four Bucks.

Badgers vault into tie for Big 10 lead

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

W. L. Pct. GB
Iowa 4 2 .667 0
Wisconsin 4 2 .667 0
Northwestern 3 3 .500 1
Illinois 3 3 .500 1
Michigan 3 3 .500 1
Purdue 3 3 .500 1
Ohio State 3 3 .500 1
Michigan 2 4 .333 2

Wisconsin and Iowa both swept doubleheaders Saturday to vault into a tie for the Big Ten baseball lead.

Pitcher Andy Otting hurled the Badgers to a six-hit 4-2 victory over Northwestern and then came back to post a save in a wild 12-11 triumph in the second game.

Wisconsin got four walks and six hits in scoring 10 runs in the second inning of the second game and then held off a desperation last-inning rally with the help of Otting.

Northwestern had the bases loaded and no outs in the seventh inning when Otting took over. He walked in one run and then got a pop up and a game-ending double play.

Iowa's Dave Marshall singled home the winning run in the seventh inning of an opening 9-8 victory over Michigan State and Bryan Jones paced the Hawkeyes in a 10-4 second game victory with a pair of homers and a double.

Everybody else split doubleheaders Saturday. Ohio State defeated Purdue 7-0 behind the four-hit pitching of Andy Stegmeyer, but the Boilermakers took the nightcap 6-3.

Perry Bauer pitched a three-hit shutout for a 5-0 Minnesota triumph after Michigan had grabbed the first game of the twin bill 5-2 with Pete Ross and Larry Grinnkowski rapping two run doubles.

John Siron's bases-loaded single in the seventh and final inning gave Illinois a 3-2 victory after Indiana had won the opener 4-2 with Ken St. Pierre and Don Seidhol driving in two runs each.

Wisconsin will have an excellent chance of holding its share of first place this week as the Badgers are home both Friday and Saturday while Iowa has to hit the road.

Friday's doubleheaders find

Illinois at Wisconsin, Iowa at Indiana, Minnesota at Ohio State and Purdue at Northwestern. Saturday's twin bills have Purdue at Wisconsin, Iowa at Ohio State, Minnesota at Indiana and Illinois at Northwestern.

Michigan State will engage in nonconference games against Wayne State Friday and Detroit Saturday.

Manion claims three seconds

ST. PETER, Minn. — Winona State's track team enjoyed a relatively productive afternoon in the annual Gustie Relays at Gustavus Adolphus College here Saturday.

Although the Warriors didn't win any events, they came through with several second-place efforts including a school record heave of 48-2 1/4 in the shot put by senior Roger Deets. Deets' toss bettered his own varsity mark set the week before by less than an inch.

Luther Manion, a sophomore from Lewiston, took second in the 100-yard dash with a time of 10.6, the triple jump with a distance of 42-7 1/2 and the high jump with a leap of 6-2.

Teammates Mark Smith and Dan Haskett tied for third in the high jump at 5-10. Smith was second in the 440-yard intermediate hurdles with a 58.9 clocking, and teammate Bob Bestul was right behind in 59.2.

Winona's mile relay team took second in 3:30.2, the 440-yard relay unit was third in 44.6, the distance medley four-some came in third in 10:52.2, the shuttle hurdle relay team was fourth in 53.4, the two-mile relay took fifth in 8:46.8, and the sprint medley relay team was fifth in 3:53.8.

Bob Eiselt finished third in the three-mile run in 15:51.8, Dave Grieve took third in the pole vault at 11-6, Deets was fourth in the discus with a toss of 127-1 1/2 and Lynn Gulbranson took fourth in the javelin at 172-8.

Coach Myron Smith's squad will face its next competition in the Norsemen Relays at Luther College in Decorah, Iowa, April 30.

Against the WFL

NFL teams seek injunctions

DALLAS (AP) — A rash of injunctions and restraining orders was expected around the National Football League today in the wake of the Dallas Cowboys' midnight action Sunday against the World Football League.

The Cowboys were the second NFL club to take such action, but apparently they were not the last. Cincinnati procured a similar order Friday and Miami managing general partner Joe Robbie indicated the Dolphins might take similar action.

In recent weeks, the Cowboys have lost Hill, a formidable ground gainer; Morton, a strong-arm passer; and stellar split-end Mike Montgomery to WFL from dealing with Cowboy players and keeping running back Calvin Hill and quarterback Craig Morton from promoting the WFL teams that they have signed with for the 1975 season.

The restraining order, in effect until April 30, also forbids Morton and Hill from attempting to attract other players to either Houston or Hawaii. A WFL spokesman in Los Angeles said there would be no comment until league lawyers study the case.

The restraining order signed here by State District Court Judge Ted Aikin prohibits the WFL teams. They've also seen three draft choices choose the fledgling WFL.

Then, a Dallas spokesman said, the Cowboys learned that offensive lineman Rayfield Wright was dicker with an unnamed WFL club. He told the Cowboys they must meet his contract demands or he, too, would be gone.

Bill Sims, an attorney for the Cowboys who sought the restraining order from Judge Aikin, said they also would seek to void contracts signed by Morton, Hill and Montgomery with WFL clubs.

Sims said the Cowboys would try for a permanent injunction, but no hearing date was set immediately.

After the Cowboy action, the Miami Dolphins said they were contemplating court action to retain the services of running backs Larry Csonka and Jim Kiick and receiver Paul Warfield, three stars who defected to Toronto of the WFL.

The Bengals Friday gained a temporary injunction against the WFL for signing Bill Bergey, Cincinnati linebacker. Among other things, the Bengals seek to rescind Bergey's contract with the WFL's Virginia Ambassadors on grounds that it "undermines" Bergey's obligations to Cincinnati.

WSC opens spring grid drills today

Winona State College was scheduled to open its spring football drills at 3:30 this afternoon at Maxwell Stadium.

Warrior coach Bob Keister was expecting some 60 prospects to turn out for the drills, which will last until May 11.

The annual varsity-alumni game will put the final touches on the spring drills. The contest is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. May 11 at Maxwell.

The 1973 Warriors sported a 3-7 record, although two wins were forfeited because of an ineligible player.

Jo Ann Prentice wins Winner's Circle Golf

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — At Augusta, the male Masters champion wears a green coat. At Dinah Shore's Winner's Circle, Jo Ann Prentice said she dressed in green "because that's all I had clean in my closet."

Jackie Pung, LPGA Hall-of-Famer from Hawaii, adorned Miss Prentice with green leis after the 41-year-old Alabamian "punched a little four-iron" from the tee to within four feet of the flag on the fourth playoff hole. Then she sank the birdie putt to defeat Jane Blalock for the $32,000 first prize.

The richest tournament in the history of women's golf, a total purse of $200,000, is considered by the gals as prestigious to them as the Masters is to the men.

Miss Blalock, the 1972 Winner's Circle champion when the first prize was $20,000, had birdied the 157-yard No. 17 on the tournament's 71st hole by hitting to within 18 inches of the flag.

That same hole on the Mission Hill's course came up as the fourth playoff hole and she followed Jo Ann's sensational shot by leaving herself about a 12-foot putt.

Sandra Haynie, the 54-hole leader, shot a 74, bogeying the 14th when she hit into water. She regained a share of the lead when Miss Prentice three-putted No. 17 from about 45 feet, missing about a three-foot putt. Miss Blalock birdied 18 — with a six-foot putt and the trio tied at one-over-par 289, returned to the 14th hole to start the sudden death playoff.

Miss Haynie was short on a six-foot putt for a bogey on the second playoff hole, leaving Jo Ann and Jane who had 73s to fight for the $14,500 difference as second place money of $21,000 and $14,000 for third was shared by the playoff losers.

Jo Ann's tee shot on the third playoff hole hit a three stake, coming back into the fairway, and she scrambled to make par. Memory of her three-putt bogey earlier on 17 was still fresh in her mind.

Wabasha, Mazepa split twin bill

WABASHA, Minn. — Wabasha and Mazepa split a Centennial Conference doubleheader played here Friday afternoon.

Wabasha won the first game 14-5 as Mike Trollden belted a home run and Cary Hansen a triple, but Mazepa, now 1-3, outlasted the host team 13-11 in the nightcap.

Van Deirse wins No. 1 singles title

AUSTIN, Minn. — Cotter's Paul Van Deirse claimed the No. 1 singles crown in the Austin Pacelli Invitational tennis meet held amidst gusting winds and scattered rain showers here Saturday.

Only a sophomore, Van Deirse whipped Chuck Martin of Pacelli 10-2, John Thomas of Faribault Shattuck 10-6 and Mark Schneider of La Crosse Aquinas 10-6 for top honors. The victory over Schneider avenged Van Deirse's only loss so far this season.

Aquinas, which dumped Cotter 6-3 in a dual meet Friday night, won the team title with 30 points. The Ramblers and Pacelli tied for second with eight apiece and Shattuck finished with seven. Other teams involved included Rochester Lourdes, New Uim Martin Luther Academy, St. Agnes and Wells.

Junior Paul Wadden and freshman Tom Van Deirse lost their first doubles match to eventual champions Pat Kelly and Frank Biddle of Pacelli, but they came back to defeat Bob Broeght and Terry Smith of Lourdes and the Deutsch brothers of St. Agnes.

Senior Barb Van Deirse beat Kirt Gelsinger of Lourdes 10-0 in her first match but then lost to Chris Schneider of Aquinas and Mervin Biddle of Lourdes.

The Ramblers will travel to Onalaska, Wis., Tuesday afternoon for a dual meet with Luther High School.

Cotter thinclads go scoreless in invitational

AUSTIN, Minn. — Cotter High's track team ran into some strong competition in the annual Austin Pacelli Invitational here Saturday and went scoreless in both the boys and girls meets.

St. Cloud Cathedral won the 15-team boys meet with 50 points. Hill-Murray was next with 35 followed by Rochester Lourdes with 34, Lewiston with 27, La Crosse Aquinas and Stewartville with 13 and Fridley Grace with 10.

The other eight teams involved, including Pacelli were held to seven points or less.

The Ramblers' two-mile relay team had the sixth best time in the event, 9:20, and the 440-relay unit missed placing by just two-tenths of a second with a 49.2 clocking.

Chris Walsh and Dorina Pagliarello of Cotter broke school records in the girls meet. Miss Walsh bettered her own mark in the high jump by four inches with a leap of 4-3, and Miss Pagliarello broke Mary Maze's record of 27 1/2 in the shot put with a toss of 28-23 1/2.

Lewiston's boys team took first in the distance medley relay with a time of 11:33.3 and second in both the two-mile and mile relays.

Cotter golfers settle for 4th

New farm headaches

Machinery, fertilizer are scarce

First in a series

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

At least two new headaches have surfaced this spring for Minnesota and Dakota farmers who traditionally worry about such things as weather, crop prices and boxcars.

The policy switch of the U.S. Agriculture Department from restricted acreage to all-out production, coupled with high prices for grain, has created an enormous demand for fertilizer and new farm machinery.

The fertilizer is necessary to insure the farmer that his yield will be sufficient to meet increased production costs and make a profit. In many cases, the new and larger machinery is needed by farmers putting additional acreage into crops.

"All of a sudden you were looking at a farmer who had a lot of jack and he wanted to increase production," says John Dickinson, vice president and manager of the Bismarck, N.D., Implement Co.

Dickinson was referring to the availability of farm machinery, but similar problems exist for farmers who want to buy more fertilizer.

Minnesota Agriculture Commissioner Jon Wefald estimates that Minnesota farmers face a 20 per cent shortage of fertilizer statewide. In South Dakota, State Agriculture Secretary Williams Schroeder estimates the shortage will run from 30 to 40 per cent. North Dakota Agriculture Commissioner Myron Just says that state will have a shortage of 20 to 25 per cent.

The retail implement business in Minnesota and South Dakota is described by one official as fantastic.

"There's no problem in selling anything you can get," says Ken Austin, "but we're not getting it. Dealers are spending all their time tracking down deliveries."

Austin is executive director of Retail Farm Equipment Association of Minnesota and South Dakota, with headquarters at Owatonna, Minn. The organization represents some 850 dealers or about 95 per cent of the farm implement business in the two states.

"It's unbelievable," he said of the demand for new farm machinery. "If anybody had predicted 18 months ago that any of this would have happened, we wouldn't have believed it."

He attributed the demand to "higher farm income and so much land coming out of soil bank they need the equipment."

Orville Wee, manager of Watland International Co. at Worthington, Minn., has been in the implement business for 28 years and says, "Our backlog is the greatest it's ever been."

Dealers are having trouble filling orders on time because equipment is being delivered late from factories and machines which do arrive sometimes do not have complete attachments, he explained. "As far as I'm concerned it's been embarrassing," Wee added.

Manager Roy Vesely of the West River Implement Co. at Draper, S.D., estimates he could have increased his sales 95 per cent if the equipment was available.

"Just about anything you can get a hold of, they'll take," he said. "There's so much demand the manufacturers can't keep up. They don't even ask the price any more."

In addition to availability, farmers shopping for fertilizer have another problem: skyrocketing prices.

"The price has risen astronomically on fertilizer," says Wefald, with farmers paying "upwards of double to 500 per cent" over 1973 prices for ammonium nitrate, "the key starter for corn crops."

One dealer, Wayne Fredrickson of Co-op Service Corp., Goodhue, Minn., is suspicious of manufacturers.

"What it boils down to is they just waited for the prices to go up," he says. "When it goes up it becomes available just like fuel."

However, Minnesota's agriculture commissioner feels the shortage is real. "The international demand for commercial fertilizer has just skyrocketed in the past three or four years," he says.

"Our estimate right now is that the corn yield will drop by about five per cent per acre, around five to six bushels because of the lack of fertilizer," says Wefald.

He points out that corn production in Minnesota in 1950—before fertilizer was widely used—averaged 38 bushels per acre. In 1973, fertilizer helped to more than double that yield to 93 bushels an acre on a statewide average.

Because of the price and supply situation, South Dakota's farm secretary feels that many farmers will simply do without fertilizer on some fields.

"People are being more conservative about using fertilizer," said Schroeder. "They are more careful in making soil tests. Where prices for fertilizer are excessive, they will do without this year."

After farmers lick the problems of securing equipment and fertilizer, they will still face the perennial problem this fall of marketing their crops because of boxcar shortages.

"Anyone that plans on anything different is going to come up short," says Ralph Avery, an assistant vice president for Burlington Northern, St. Paul, Minn.

With another year of record crops in prospect, "there's no question that the pipeline will be strained all through 1974," said Avery.

BN recently announced plans to acquire 3,000 new cars at a cost of $61 million but the first deliveries won't come until September or October.

Some grain companies are building what they feel will be a long-range solution to the annual problem of clogged country elevators.

Such terminals are in the planning stages or under construction at various points along tracks at such points as Madelia, Heron Lake, Bigelow, Albert Lea in southern Minnesota as well as in northern Iowa.

Unit-trains will be loaded at the terminals for shipment to Gulf Coast ports and to Duluth, Minn., for movement through the St. Lawrence Seaway. Avery noted a transportation revolution has been in the making since "all hell broke loose in August of 1972," when the big U.S. grain shipment to the Soviet Union was announced.

IN THE PUBLIC INTEREST

A Feature-Length Color Movie Entitled

"TURN ON TO LIFE"

By Dr. Reginald Gold, D.C.

CHIROPRACTIC

Will be shown Wed., April 24—8 p.m.

This film will explain to all that are interested how and why Chiropractic relates to their health. The film explains how Chiropractic relates to THE TRUTH ABOUT HEALTH.

Health is ever-present in every human. Nature has provided man with good health and with the knowledge to maintain that good health.

The controlling force in man is his instinct, or innate intelligence. Man's brain transmits nerve energy impulses to all body structures through the spinal cord, the spinal nerves and millions of tiny nerve fibers.

So long as man's nervous system functions properly and transmits the brain's messages through the body, good health abounds. When nerve pressure or impingement in the spinal column interferes with the efficient flow of nerve energy, disorder and disease result. Sickness is the result.

However, scientific and gentle chiropractic adjustments at the hands of a competent chiropractor free the nerves to perform their proper duties, and nature restores the affected body parts to normal. Healthy, happy living once again becomes a part of life.

Healing and good health do not come through the elimination of or covering-up of symptoms. The cause for the disorder must be located and corrected. When the cause has been eliminated, nature effects the cure by restoring the affected body organs to normal, efficient operation. Through chiropractic adjustments, nature is able to perform her natural duty of health maintenance.

This film will be shown in the offices of

at 7 p.m. Wednesday and is FREE to anyone interested.

Please call for a reservation as seating is limited at present.
